EDITOR'S LETTER

The first year of the renewed publication of REVISTA has come to an end. The membership is higher than it has ever been, a good sign that the website is being reached.

I would like to thank those members that have helped with translations this year. It is a great help to put the REVISTA together.

This is an ongoing need, to have articles ready every time the publication is due.

Those of you that have articles to be translated, please make an effort to dedicate some time to it every week, so it is not a big task. If you need help with the terms, let me know, I will be glad to help.

I also would like to invite everyone to think about writing a family history or the life story of a member of the family, that can be published in REVISTA.

FRANCISCO VICENTE AGUILERA

Francisco Vicente Aguilera

Francisco Vicente Aguilera was born on June 23rd, 1821 in Bayamo, Santiago de Cuba, the son of Antonio María Aguilero y Tamayo and Juana Tamayo e Infante.

He studied in Santiago de Cuba at the school Carraguao, where José Silverio Jorrín was a teacher. As a young man he travel to the United States where the true Republican form of government was inforce.

When he came back to Cuba arried Ana Manuela Kindelány Sánchez-Griñan on September 8, 1848 in Santaigo de Cuba.

He became Regidor Alquacil Mayor of Bayamo and during the Ten Year War he liberated his slaves and became Chief General of the Cuban Army. He also had the post of Minister of War and succeeded Céspedes as the President of the Republic at Arms.

He died in New York on February 1877, while in exile, after his health failed him and was not able to continue in the war effort.

The Immigration from Icod de Los Vinos to Cuba - 1750 to 1830

Many Spaniards immigrated to Cuba coming from the Canary Islands. La main attraction of the Island of Cuba was the economic perspective that it offered. The per capital earning in the year 1690 was 66 pesos, and in 1750 it had gone up to 90 pesos. A robust 5% increase. The economy was open and growing at a very healthy rate.

From 1750 to 1830 the need for laborers was great, and the landlords would import it from many parts of Spain. In 1792 Luis de las Casas proposed to the Crown to have families from the Canary Islands move to Cuba and increase the population, since Cuba was a very sparsely populated country and it needed to have more people knowledgeable about farming.

The "Isleños" (persons from Canary Islands) took advantage of this need by establishing small farms around La Habana as small proprietors. They dedicated the land to the growth of vegetables and corn that was mainly used as "maloja", used to feed animals. In Cuba the term "malojero" became synonymous with "Isleño".

With time the Isleños started to establish other kinds of business like taverns, milk farms, stores, and mills, where they employed a lot of their own family members.

From Icod de Los Vinos to Cuba there was a constant traveling of individuals that had either established importing business in Cuba and travel to and from with frequency, or they came to Cuba to find a better way of life.

Following is a list of all the persons that travel from Icod de Los Vinos to the Americas, mainly Cuba and Venezuela.

The list mentions the name of the individual, the date it departed from Icod de Los Vinos, the name of the ship (some do not have this information) and the country of destination.

The LOPEZ DE ARAGON family in MEXICO and LA HABANA

(part of the unpublished work "History of my Family")
By Rafael Nieto y Cortadella

Translated by Alan Perry

Read in the session of October 26, 1950, by Rafael Nieto y Cortadella, founding and regular member of the Cuban Institute of Genealogy and Heraldry; honorary member of the Mexican Academy of Genealogy and Heraldry, and the Brazilian Genealogical Institute of Sao Paulo; corresponding member in Havana to the Society for Studies of History of La Paz; the Peruvian Institute of Genealogical Research; the Bolivian Heraldic and Genealogical Society; and honorary member of the Supreme Tribunal and College of Arms of Costa Rica.

This lineage originates in the city of Calahorra, today part of the municipality and district of the same name, in the province of Logrono, diocese of Burgos.

We begin this genealogy with the brothers, Diego and Pero Lopez de Aragon, who settled in Mexico City at the end of the sixteenth century. A son of Pero Lopez de Aragon settled in Havana, as we will show, at the beginning of the following century. They are:

1. Diego Lopez de Aragon, a native of Calahorra, was for the most part, a resident of las Minas de Temascaltepec, and later of Zacatecas, where he already resided in 1572.¹ In 1584, he, together with his wife, Inés Alvarez de Castaneda, founded a chaplaincy in Mexico, with a thousand pesos of capital.² That foundation passed to his son:

Bachiller, Juan Lopez de Aragon y Alvarez de Castaneda, was, in 1619, Cura Beneficiado of the district of Acamistla.

2. Pero Lopez de Aragon was a native of Calahorra, and resident of Mexico City. He married Tomasina Castaneda de Segura, who gave birth to the following: fray Pedro, Luis, Ana María, Catalina, María, Juan,³ Tomasina, another María, Francisco, and Diego Juan Alonso Lopez de Aragon y Castaneda de Segura. Of these:

1. Luis Lopez de Aragon y Castaneda de Segura was baptized in the parish del Sagrario de la Catedral de México, on March 22, 1581.

2. Ana Maria Lopez de Aragon y Castaneda de Segura was baptized in the parish del Sagrario de la Catedral de Mé- xico, on July 17, 1583. She married Gonzalo del Castillo, and they were the parents of:

² Folio 5, volume 4020, and folio 2, volume 640, of Bienes Nacionales in the previously mentioned archive.

³ Juan Lopez de Aragon, resident of Aragon, obtained permission for passage to America, without listing his place of destination, dated May 19, 1517, (Folio 178, location 2525, volume 1, of the Catalogo de Pasajeros a Indias published by the Archivo General de Indias, Sevilla).

Nicolas del Castillo y Lopez de Aragon was baptized in the same parish del Sagrario de la Catedral de Mexico, on February 26, 1612.

3. Catalina Lopez de Aragon y Castaneda de Segura was baptized in the parish del Sagrario de la Catedral de Mexico, on December 2, 1584. She and Luis Lopez de Aguililar had the following son:

Diego Lopez de Aguililar y Lopez de Aragon was baptized in the parish del Sagrario de la Catedral de Mexico, on May 10, 1604.

4. Maria Lopez de Aragon y Castaneda de Segura was baptized in the parish del Sagrario de la Catedral de Mexico, on August 15 1587, and, apparently, died very young.

5. Juan Lopez de Aragon y Castaneda of Segura will be found in the FIRST LINEAGE, below.

6. Tomasina Lopez de Aragon y Castaneda de Segura was baptized in the parish del Sagrario de la Catedral de Mexico, on December 1, 1594.

7. Maria Lopez de Aragon y Castaneda de Segura was baptized in the parish del Sagrario de la Catedral de Mexico xico, on April 8, 1596, where she married, in 1619,⁴ Juan Ruiz de Valderrama y Cervantes, a native of the las Minas de Taxco, and son of Francisco Ruiz de Valderrama and de Guiomar Cervantes. They had one daughter:

Tomasina Ruiz de Valderrama y Lopez de Aragon, known as Tomasina Lopez de Aragon y Valderrama, was the third spouse of don Bernardo de Gongora y Trezeno-Palome, a native of Mexico, and son of Bartolomé de Gongora and María Trezeno-Palome. Tomasina and Bernardo married in the parish del Sagrario de la Catedral de México, in April 25 1668.

8. Francisco Lopez de Aragon y Castaneda de Segura will be found in the SECOND LINEAGE, below.

9. Diego Juan Alonso Lopez de Aragon y Castaneda de Segura will be found in the THIRD LINEAGE, below.

FIRST LINEAGE

Juan Lopez de Aragon y Castaneda de Segura (already mentioned as a son of Pero Lopez de Aragon and Tomasina Castaneda de

⁴ The book of marriages that corresponds to the year 1619, in the parish del Sagrario de la Catedral de México is missing, but this connection is proved in Volume 86, of Matrimonios, in the Archivo General de la Nacion Mexico, D. F. where the relationship to the Bachiller Juan Lopez de Aragon y Alvarez de Castaneda, already mentioned, is also demonstrated.

Segura) was baptized in the parish del Sagrario de la Catedral de México, on April 22, 1590, and went to Havana, where he testified, on January 22, 1621, before the notary Francisco Garcia Caballero in preparation for his marriage to doña Lusía de la Vega. They were the parents of:

Sargento Bartolome Lopez de Aragon y de la Vega was baptized in the parish del Sagrario de la Catedral de La Habana, on February 16, 1622, where he married doña Ursula Ortiz y Collazos, on March 29, 1647. This lady, in turn, had been baptized in the same parish del Sagrario de la Catedral de La Habana, on November 14, 1629. She was the daughter of Alguacil, Diego Bautista de Ortiz and doña Jeronima de Collazos, whose deaths are recorded in the same parish del Sagrario de la Catedral de La Habana, on February 16, 1646, and May 6, 1643, respectively.

Doña Ursula made a will before the notary Bartolomé Nunez, and died in Havana, parish del Santo Angel Custodio, on June 22, 1712. From the marriage of Sargento Bartolome Lopez de Aragon y de la Vega and doña Ursula Ortiz y Colazos, came the following children: Isabel, Maria, Nicolasa, Miguel, Francisco, Bartolome, Jeronima, and Luisa Lopez de Aragon y Ortiz. Of these:

1. Doña Isabel Lopez de Aragon y Ortiz was baptized in the parish del Sagrario de la Catedral de La Habana, on January 8, 1657.
